50 MOST USED SPANISH VERBS

in the near future — part 1 of 2:

THE WHOLE TENSE IN ONE RULE

ir + a + infinitive

This is how people actually talk about plans — far more common in speech than the futuro simple. You only ever conjugate ir; the second verb stays in the infinitive and never changes.

CONJUGATE ONLY IR — THEN BOLT ON ANY INFINITIVE

yo	tú	él / ella	nosotros	vosotros	ellos
voy	vas	va	vamos	vais	van	+ a + *infinitivo

Ser
to be

Va a ser un día largo.

It's going to be a long day.

Estar
to be

Voy a estar en casa esta noche.

I'm going to be home tonight.

Tener to have

Vamos a tener una reunión.

We're going to have a meeting.

Haber
there to be

Va a haber mucha gente.

There are going to be a lot of people.

Hacer to do / make

¿Qué vas a hacer mañana?

What are you going to do tomorrow?

Ir to go

Voy a ir al médico.

I'm going to go to the doctor.

Venir
to come

Mis padres van a venir el sábado.

My parents are coming on Saturday.

Querer
to want

No va a querer esperar.

He isn't going to want to wait.

Poder to be able to

No voy a poder ir.

I'm not going to be able to go.

Saber to know

Pronto vamos a saber la respuesta.

We'll know the answer soon.

Conocer to meet

Vas a conocer a mi familia.

You're going to meet my family.

Gustar to like

Te va a gustar esta película.

You're going to like this movie.

Hablar
to speak

Voy a hablar con el jefe.

I'm going to speak with the boss.

Comer
to eat

¿Dónde vamos a comer hoy?

Where are we going to eat today?

Vivir
to live

Van a vivir en Madrid.

They're going to live in Madrid.

Trabajar to work

Voy a trabajar hasta tarde.

I'm going to work late.

Necesitar to need

Vas a necesitar un abrigo.

You're going to need a coat.

Llevar
to take / wear

Voy a llevar a los niños.

I'm going to take the kids.

Poner to put

Voy a poner la mesa.

I'm going to set the table.

Ver
to see

Vamos a ver una película.

We're going to watch a movie.

Decir
to say

Te voy a decir la verdad.

I'm going to tell you the truth.

Dar to give

Le voy a dar un regalo.

I'm going to give them a gift.

Salir
to go out

Vamos a salir esta noche.

We're going out tonight.

Dormir
to sleep

Voy a dormir ocho horas.

I'm going to sleep eight hours.

Buscar to look for

Voy a buscar un piso nuevo.

I'm going to look for a new flat.

haber is impersonal here: va a haber = there is going to be — always singular, even with plurals.
Object pronouns may sit either side: te voy a decir and voy a decirte are both correct.

Futuro próximo
Rows 1–4 = the 20 core A1 verbs

50 MOST USED SPANISH VERBS

in the near future — part 2 of 2:

THE WHOLE TENSE IN ONE RULE

ir + a + infinitive

This is how people actually talk about plans — far more common in speech than the futuro simple. You only ever conjugate ir; the second verb stays in the infinitive and never changes.

Encontrar to find

Vas a encontrar trabajo pronto.

You're going to find a job soon.

Perder to lose / miss

Vamos a perder el tren.

We're going to miss the train.

Traer
to bring

Voy a traer el postre.

I'm going to bring dessert.

Beber to drink

No voy a beber alcohol hoy.

I'm not going to drink today.

Tocar
to play

Va a tocar la guitarra.

He's going to play the guitar.

Volver
to come back

Voy a volver el lunes.

I'm going to come back on Monday.

Empezar
to start

¿Cuándo vas a empezar el curso?

When are you going to start the course?

Jugar
to play (games)

Vamos a jugar al tenis.

We're going to play tennis.

Pensar
to think

Lo voy a pensar esta noche.

I'm going to think about it tonight.

Pedir
to ask for / order

Voy a pedir la cuenta.

I'm going to ask for the bill.

Correr
to run

Mañana voy a correr en el parque.

Tomorrow I'm going to run in the park.

Nadar
to swim

Vamos a nadar en el mar.

We're going to swim in the sea.

Llamar
to call

Te voy a llamar esta tarde.

I'm going to call you this afternoon.

Llegar
to arrive

El tren va a llegar tarde.

The train is going to arrive late.

Mirar to look at

Voy a mirar el menú.

I'm going to look at the menu.

Creer to believe

Nadie va a creer esta historia.

Nobody is going to believe this story.

Aprender to learn

Vas a aprender mucho aquí.

You're going to learn a lot here.

Oír
to hear

No vas a oír nada desde aquí.

You're not going to hear anything from here.

Seguir to keep on

Voy a seguir estudiando.

I'm going to keep studying.

Leer
to read

Voy a leer este libro.

I'm going to read this book.

Pasar
to spend (time)

Vamos a pasar el fin de semana en Madrid.

We're going to spend the weekend in Madrid.

Dejar to leave / let

Te voy a dejar las llaves.

I'm going to leave you the keys.

Quedar
to arrange to meet

¿Cuándo vamos a quedar?

When are we going to meet up?

Parecer to seem

Te va a parecer muy fácil.

It's going to seem very easy to you.

Deber to owe

No le vas a deber nada.

You're not going to owe them anything.

haber is impersonal here: va a haber = there is going to be — always singular, even with plurals.
Object pronouns may sit either side: te voy a decir and voy a decirte are both correct.

Futuro próximo
Rows 1–4 = the 20 core A1 verbs